

According to McGraw-Hill's ECN, Quanta Services, headquartered in Houston, TX, is the largest North American consulting, engineering and construction firm specialized in serving the energy and telecommunications industries. We are a publicly-traded company and listed on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol PWR. Our annualized 2007 revenue, after the major acquisition of InfraSource Services, was $3.1 Billion; our employees are well over 13,000; our construction companies have the largest union as well as the largest non-union work forces in the industry; we own many thousands of vehicles to support our field services; and we operate in all 50 states and have numerous regional offices throughout the US and Canada.

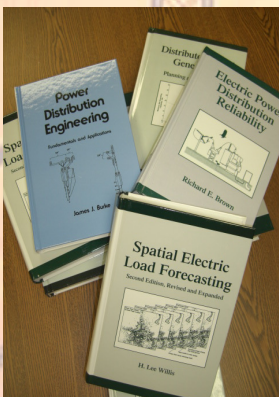

Quanta Technology, LLC is the high-growth, independent consulting arm of Quanta Services and has grown to a diverse team of over 60 talented individuals, many of whom are industry renowned leaders in the fields of electric power infrastructure and operational systems. The Quanta Technology team has helped more than 70 international clients with a full range of technical and analytical services. Our headquarters is located in Raleigh, NC and we have regional offices in Massachusetts and California. The range of our services includes:

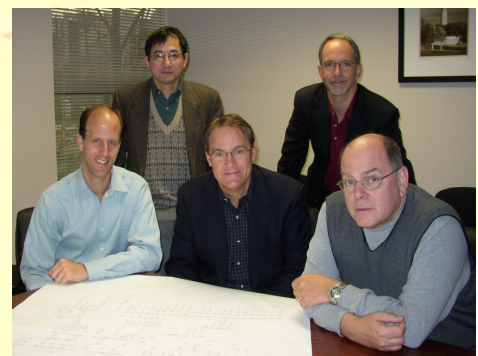

- Strategic and asset management planning
- Transmission and distribution infrastructure planning and analysis
- Equipment condition, design and maintenance standards assessment
- Best practices assessment and utilization
- RTO/ISO, regulatory, Electric Reliability
- Organization (ERO) and Regional Reliability
- Organization (RRO) support
- System Protection and Automation
- "Smart Grid / Grid of the Future" development and deployment
- Enterprise systems integration
- Sustainable energy portfolio assessment
- Program and project implementation
- Staff Training

Our senior staff expertise and credentials include:

- 20+ years each serving utility industry
- 6 IEEE Fellows
- 48 Patents Awarded
- Industry recognized experts for asset management, system reliability, planning, protection and training
- 10 Published Books
- Hundreds of Published Articles
- Actively solicit and participate in Industry Forums

For more information contact:
James Blackman
Director of Business Development
919-334-3044
jblackman@quanta-technology.com